

Losing Focus?

By Hank Van Joslin

Don't let the mumbo jumbo confuse you. Although it can be exhausting to "keep up" with the goings on in United States politics, now is not the time sit back and just let things happen. More than ever, we must focus on what type of America we want for ourselves and for generations to come. Make a plan, develop a strategy and take action.

No matter how comfortable you may be right now, it can take less than a minute for that to change. Be one of the millions who are digging deep to figure out what they can do to be sure the right people are in power in this great nation of ours.

Keep your eye on the ball and make a difference .

Hank Van Joslin